THE OFFICE OF THE INFORMATION COMMISSIONER

Office of the Information Commissioner
Queensland

December 2022

The Office of the Information Commissioner (OIC) builds trust in government agencies in Queensland through greater transparency. OIC has a statutory role to assist the achievement of more open, accountable and transparent government through independently upholding and promoting information access and privacy rights.

OIC provides information and assistance to the community and support to over 600 Queensland public sector entities, including Queensland Government departments, local government, public universities and statutory authorities on understanding their rights or responsibilities under the Right to Information Act 2009 (Qld) (RTI Act) and the Information Privacy Act 2009 (Qld) (IP Act).

OIC also reviews agency decisions regarding access and amendment applications, deals with privacy complaints, and monitors and reports on agency compliance.

Initially established under the repealed Freedom of Information Act 1992 (Qld), OIC continues under the RTI Act and the IP Act.

Key functions

External Review

OIC has responsibility for reviewing decisions of agencies and Ministers on access to and amendment of information under the RTI Act and IP Act.

This function includes conducting reviews of agency decisions about whether information should be disclosed under the RTI and IP Acts, whether agencies have taken all reasonable steps to locate relevant documents, if applications can be accepted outside of the time allowed for making an external review application or whether agencies should be granted further time to process access applications and, also deciding applications from non-profit organisations for financial hardship status. In addition, OIC makes decisions about whether the legislation applies to particular entities.

OIC attempts to resolve external review applications informally wherever possible. However, if informal resolution cannot be achieved, a decision is made that either affirms, varies or sets aside the agency/ Minister's decision.

Decisions are published on the OIC website. Decisions of the Information Commissioner can be appealed to the Queensland Civil and Administrative Tribunal on a question of law.

Information Privacy

The IP Act provides rules for how agencies may and must handle personal information.

OIC functions include:

- advocating and training on best practice for privacy management, and privacy by design
- managing and mediating privacy complaints about Queensland public sector agencies
- leading the improvement of public sector privacy administration in Queensland, through promotion of rights and obligations, and providing guidance, assistance and training
- conducting audits into agency personal information handling practices; and
- making decisions about compliance notices, waivers and modifications of privacy principles in the public interest.

Audit and Evaluation

OIC monitors and reports to the Queensland Parliament on agency compliance with the RTI Act and the IP Act by conducting audits, reviews and surveys of government departments, local governments, statutory authorities, government owned corporations and universities.

Information and Assistance

OIC promotes greater awareness of RTI and IP in the community and within government, and also seeks to improve practices by:

- informing the community and agencies about information rights and responsibilities

- providing an enquiries service for advice and assistance about the legislation
- publishing an extensive range of guidelines and online resources to assist with understanding
- encouraging agencies to increase the flow of information to the community, use privacy by design principles and advise on emerging trends and issues
- providing online and in-person training about compliance and more effective and efficient ways for agencies to deliver RTI and IP services; and
- promoting awareness of the importance of information access rights and how Queenslanders can protect their personal information.
